THE PISCO SOUR

The Pisco Sour is a classic cocktail made from Peruvian or Chilean brandy, lime, sugar, and egg white, dating back to just after the turn of the century. The brandy, or Aguardiente as it is commonly known in South America, was named Pisco after the Spanish colony where it became most known. Today, most of the Pisco imported to Denver is from Peru, but several outstanding Chilean brands have also made their way to us.

Trying this classic cocktail with different Pisco varieties is a great way to test the range of flavors and expressions of this spirit.

Each of the following Pisco Sours are made with the same recipe - only changing the Pisco being used.

Pisco 100, Peru, Acholado 11

Control C, Chile, Acholado 10

Barsol Acholado, Peru 12

Mistral 46, Chile, Barrel Aged 12
